2018 REDEFINITION, REGENERATION, REINVENTION #1

0:00:00.0

Barbara: Good morning, good afternoon to everyone! It is Sunday, January 28, 2018. We are here with Einstein and the Party of 12, and it's 2018! Happy New Year! It's our first reading of the year. As I was telling Cathy Kline and Robin Cordova, who are here with me, when we were chatting earlier, I traditionally have had no idea what the theme of a series will be. This one—"A Year of Redefinition, Regeneration, and Reinvention"—sounds like a whole bunch of fun to me. As always, it will be sequential, in several parts. However many there are, this is our banner for the year. I'm so excited that you are here, Cathy and Robin, and everyone else around the world who is daring to attempt to experiment with Einstein's theories. You are greatly welcomed to our group of "regenerators."

I want to start out by saying that 2018 is the 25th anniversary of Diaries of a Psychic Sorority: Talking With the Angels. The Psychic Sorority of the threesome Teresa McMillan and Kimberly

Lilith Phelps and me was a conglomeration of the three of us coming together at particular times in our lives to start a group channeling. It was a monumental time without which we would not be here today.

I'm very excited about 2018 because I fully intend that we are going to re-release Diaries, and it's my hope that we'll have at least one new chapter updating. I'm so honored 25 years later to still have these friends and that we tested the Conflict REVOLUTION process. Out of the three of us came Conflict REVOLUTION. Without the three of us, it would not have been able to be tested and put into use in a practical platform.

In honor of the 25th anniversary and to every Conflict REVOLUTIONary out there who has dared to look this deeply into themselves and take this much responsibility for their energy, I want to welcome all of you. Whether you've called it Conflict REVOLUTION, whether you just know that you're aligned to Einstein, for whatever reason you've been brought to this place, I want you to know how welcome you are, even if we never hear from you, if we never know who you are. It doesn't matter. What matters right now is the mass action by people worldwide to ignite the compassion within themselves individually, one person at a time.

2018 REDEFINITION, REGENERATION, REINVENTION #1

I want to start out redefinition, regeneration, and reinvention with the idea of change and how there is a cycle to change. Those of us who are all about change, who aren't afraid of change, who understand change and try to ride the wave of change, sometimes we think, "Oh, yay! Change!" But most people resist change. The average human psyche has a kind of brake that gets put on when it comes to change. Perhaps it's the fear of the unknown.

But I learned a couple therapists back about something that was called the Stages of Change. The models for this come from James Prochaska of the University of Rhode Island and Carlo Di Clemente, who developed the transtheoretical model of change in 1977. There are apparently five stages that we go through when we change.

The first is the pre-contemplation. In that stage, we have no intention of changing in the near future. When we get into the pre-contemplation place, we don't even know we need to change, we're unaware. For example, I went through some situations with some people of color lately wherein I was able to see what I would call my racist behavior, my intergenerational, preprogrammed racism. I didn't even know I needed to change. So there's a pre-contemplation phase we go through.

That moves into the second phase, which is where we start to think about it, to contemplate and to intend that we're going to change. There's a weighing of pros and cons of change during this time. What are the good things about having to make that change that's so hard that people resist?

After that comes the preparedness phase, where you're getting ready to change. You're taking little steps that can help the behavior become part of your life.

That leads to the fourth stage, which is the action, where we've changed our behavior over the course of a period of time.

Then there's maintaining that change.

0:06:38.6

I'm sure my therapist gave me this as a way to understand somebody else I was dealing with, but of course, you know the funny thing about that!

2018 REDEFINITION, REGENERATION, REINVENTION #1

The reason I bring this up here is because if we're going back to what Einstein has asked me to present this year about redefinition, regeneration, and reinvention, I think there will be phases of each part of these that have this cycle of change, where we're not even aware we need to change. This also came out of a conversation Robin and I had a few days ago about how when we get into depressive places or feel incapacitated, overwhelmed, so much conflict, being driven, all the stress, that that's the way our bodies and our bigger selves are showing our human minds that change is needed.

The conflict tries to break the pre-contemplative phase, where you don't know you have to change. The conflict brings that awareness to the surface. How can we not embrace it and be thankful because it's making us better, instead of keeping that emotion stuffed inside ourselves thinking that we don't need to change? The conflict allows us to open that up and feel and breathe it.

In honor of the 25th anniversary of the Psychic Sorority, we blew ourselves up, as we call it! Being the queens of conflict, and then the REVOLUTION of conflict, literally the ones who wrote the book, I am—I wouldn't say "pleased," but it's ironically appropriate, let's say, that by December 2018, when we re-release this book on the anniversary of our first group, when we got together, I have no doubt in my mind that we will have used our tools appropriately and create something greater than we could have done [without the conflict]. Because apparently we needed to change, too, and we weren't aware. So I'm embracing it all.

I'll post a link to that model so you can see it in more detail. The important part is to understand where you are in that cycle of change. When we can understand that, ok, we're on our way somewhere and we don't quite know how we'll make all those bridges or where the roads are going, but we just believe we're going there—when we're in that phase—it's illuminating to take a look and ask ourselves, what part of the cycle of change are we're in in this moment?

There are times we don't want to change. We just dig our feet in and pretend nothing's wrong. My description for myself used to be that I'd stand in the middle of the room stomping, my fists clenched, sweat dripping off my brow because I was so mad, pounding and screaming, "I'M NOT MAD!!!" Apparently that was pre-contemplative.

Without much further ado and with great thanks to everyone who participates and listens, thank you so much, I'll ask us all to take a breath. I want everyone to get as comfortable as they can. I am tucked in my big king bed with my maroon down comforter, and outside there's a beautiful, clean, white, fluffy snow falling in the forest. It's so quiet, no cars, no airplanes, no ferries, no sound but what's real. There is one of the last great bodies of water surrounding me, so I sit in the middle of a crystal.

Today I want us to breathe into the air that I'm surrounded by, this crystalline power of Mother Earth, of compassion, of creation in its purest form, the Earth that you are connected to. That's the purest form.

We will command that only the most divine light shine down upon you at this time and the greatest good be present here.

The Party: Welcome to 2018! We want to thank Barbara for introducing us in such a way that really does set the stage for what we want to focus on this year. We are forever grateful for having an audience willing to take our processes and put them into your bodies. In this action of change—and that is the very stage that we're speaking of, the action stage, when you take action to change yourself—you are indeed not only being a part of the evolution of human consciousness, to where

2018 REDEFINITION, REGENERATION, REINVENTION #1

Compassion is the governing force from within, but you are also changing the way that matter manifests around you.

This year we want to focus on the second of those. The first will be a byproduct of you focusing on the second: focusing on your energy, your life, your decisions, your actions, the action stage of change. Because 2018 will require that you are able to make decisions for the good of the whole at a very fast pace.

That doesn't mean you can't ever slow down and relax and not worry about anything. Quite the contrary. We don't mean that there will be only stressful decisions coming your way. That can be any day of the week.

What we mean is, for yourself, for the internal decision-making aspect of your operating system—which consists of your Intuition impelling an action spurred on by an Emotional dictate connected to Compassion, and then the Intellectual definition and therefore action that gets taken—if you see that energy, those three human dimensions, and how they operate, you can see that Emotion turning into the voice of Compassion as Intuition to impel the entire system to take a step for the good of the whole system is the turning point of change, between that and then what the Intellect does in response to that impelling.

When we say you'll be challenged to make decisions for the good of the whole rapidly, it isn't a stress thing as much as it is, imagine getting your "blah-blah-blah" Intellect out of the way. Imagine the feeling of openness, of fresh air in your head. Imagine this picture that Barbara has painted of being surround by crystal water, the power of that water. It's like she's in the middle of a crystal, without noise, with fresh air, clean, untainted. That's what we want your mind to look like. That's the redefinition that we want to start out with: how to redefine your mind.

Your mind is the mechanism that operates the Intellect. That's how we distinguish between those two terms. Intellect is a bigger contraption and the mind is a part of its functioning, in the intersection between spirit and physical. Your mind defines your mind, it defines itself.

As many of you experience and have been talking about, those definitions in your mind that are lodged in there from repeated patterns—now you're realizing it isn't even just your childhood, but centuries of lives you've experienced in other DNA space-time bodies, in other Lenses, other universes, going on right there on the surface of the planet. But this life, in 2018, is the life where you choose to take action and make that change.

So there's a good redefinition for you if you need something to hold onto or to tack on the wall. There's a good reminder that you need to look at a bigger continuum of what's going on, that you are able to see a greater picture. You can't lose sight of the personal, of course. That's your platform. That's the byproduct of all of this work.

When you regenerate, a very simple explanation is "to sustain, a sustainability." Rather than being so depleted of resources and energy that you're starved, there's a continual flow of resource and a positive, direct use of that resource that increases the resource and does not deplete energy. It's not like there aren't still seasons or life and death, but there's a regenerative operating system that is recognized, and those within it, you with the physical bodies, are working to be that change within it.

There are so many around the world right now on the planet in 2018, more and more and more are being driven to take action. When you look at the global situation right now, also try to remember this cycle of change. Many people in the world had no idea that change was needed. The uncovering of the truth is now bringing them to understand that, "We'd better have some change soon." As you become more aware, you realize it's not "soon," it's "now" when I need to make change. It's now when I have to find a way.

In people's behavior you're seeing that some humans are pushed to a degree of insanity because of their unpreparedness, their clinging to that pre-contemplative stage. The kicking and screaming are intense. They blame other people. They want to bomb other people. You'll see each individual on the planet being given the same power to change. Some will take it and some won't. That is that moment we were speaking of earlier between when Emotion drives an Intuitive impelling—that's one part of it—and then Intellect takes that and interprets it and takes action—that's where that second part turns into something else.

If you were to also look (for those of you who are metaphysicians and like to see pictures of energy and how that looks) if you have an abscess and it's throbbing, it's Emotion at that deep level sending the message up, and Intuition is impelling, "Change." It gets over to the other side and the message is blotted out and the Intellect puts its own message in there for the good of the few.

You can see this entire model in each individual who has been given the power to make this change. And some won't. They'll come around again. It's OK. But we're concerned with those who are at the stage where they want to make that change.

So this year, understand that that change means that you have to reinvent something. You have to reinvent what has not been operating correctly. Think about being an inventor. Do you define yourself as an inventor? Or do you say that you're not very creative or can't do things well? Thinking now that you'll be required to reinvent your life, your actions, your whole operating system, you're in the process—now you have to go back to the first and redefine yourself.

This is a cycle of change as well: redefinition, regeneration, reinvention. Again you come back around where there will be another wave and you'll be redefining. Redefining is a regular part of your new operating system. Not only redefining those old definitions—that you're not good enough, smart enough, powerful enough, can't do it—but redefining who you are. As Barbara said, this will be a familiar mantra in 2018: "You have no idea how powerful you are." And we mean that on every level. On the level where you can wake up in the morning and say, "I am going to accept that I'm more powerful than I even know," and also in the humility of looking at the power of Compassion that you can never know, because it's like knowing God. You can know God, but you can't really describe God. You can't have words for the whole of God. You are God in that sense.

You do not understand [how powerful you are] and are in this place of change where you're out of the pre-contemplative stage and you want to make that change. You're taking steps to make that change. You're changing the system, the whole entire system. And you're experiencing times where you're just maintaining it. It's working really well. You've done it!

But don't allow a relapse back into being in a pre-contemplative state [to throw you], because that's the cycle. It's the cycle of waking up a little at a time. You can't just let that whole power plant surge through your outlets. You wake up a little at a time.

We want to say a few words to all of you who work so hard. When you lose your bodies, you will have such a laugh! Not even in an ironic way. Just in the way where there's a great relief that comes in knowing that you didn't have to know it all. That you weren't supposed to be in as much control as you drove yourself to be in.

Every nanosecond when energy was bubbling up through the earth, breaking through to the surface to create your physical body, heartbeat by heartbeat, breath by breath, present moment—talk about present moment, it's happening now, the miracle! Even as you sit there and do nothing, you feel the miracle of energy surging up through your body to create your body. Then you're projecting the entire universe and then perceiving it and interpreting it. This is a big job. This is a lot of information. You cannot just wake up to it. You do not just get there. You're taking your life and committing it to self-awareness, to change for the greater good and for the tiniest good. The greatest good of you, the greatest good of the world around you.

When you lose your bodies and get back to this place, there's a great joy and a reunion that goes on. We want to talk just a minute about death and say that our job here—those who have come together to make this commitment to help the humans who have bodies in 2018—is that this project and intention of ours to influence you is only about you taking care of you. Everything else becomes a byproduct of that. You do interact with the world. It's so important that you make compassionate choices when you're out in the world dealing with people. It strengthens the network of the divine.

But really, in the end, when you love yourself in all these ways that we've been speaking of for 25 years or more, today, it's about you and your relationship to yourself. In this year of redefinition, we'll redefine you as perfect. A perfect operating system. You have the perfect operating system that you are going to change and evolve. And not because it's not perfect, but because change and evolution are a part of its mathematical basis of regeneration and reinvention.

Einstein: I want you to think of yourself as inventors. In many ways, I invented theories, but not like those who went into the laboratory and put together some kind of physical model of the experiment they wanted, whether it was Faraday or the Curies. My forum was pen and paper. You become the laboratory for me and those of us who are here to inspire this change.

We cannot express enough the gratitude that we have that for 25 years we have been able to come together through Barbara's voice with groups of people to share our viewpoint, to have them participate with us. It's a success already. We have succeeded in fulfilling what we have set out to do: to plant the seeds of this kind of change.

The Party: And those of you who have been involved, for however long, you have seen the culture change around you, have you not? To be more open, more accepting, more interested, more integrated with these ideas of the inventors, yourselves, inventing these. You see the world change because of those inventions. That is a very honorable place for everyone to be. And any time we can help you redefine yourself, to understand that, just call upon us. We will tell you. You'll have to think you're a little crazy in your head to invite in Einstein and the Party, which is a huge party going on here. But then you know that. And you're a part of it.

What we're trying to do is to get you accustomed, all of you humans who still have bodies, to the part of your energy that's already dead, here with us. You have to be careful, because your culture will tell you you're crazy. But it makes no difference to us, because we know that when you lose your body, you're going to have a good laugh.

Let's start off 2018 redefining ourselves as inventors, and let's use all the tools that we've given you and that you've learned to change that one person: you. Change yourself. Strive every day to find the places in your operating system that diminish you and change them. That process, if we had to break it down, would be two-part: breathing the Emotion (because when you break out of the pre-contemplative phase and realize that you have a problem, there's Emotion that follows) and then changing that thought process and those decisions of what you're going to do.

You'll find that by the time we get to our last dissertation in Paris at the end of the year you will have found that those voices that diminish you will have diminished themselves. All of you will find the manifestation of this inner work in ways very specific to you, but they are expanding and bringing abundance, relationships, and a deeper trust in yourself, something that you can never lose. Once you learn to care so deeply for yourself, that becomes your operating system. You'll never lose that again. Everything else springs from that.

With all of this said, we would like to now open for questions and conversation.

Robin: Hello. Thank you, Einstein and Party, for this wonderful dissertation. I have a question myself and also several from Cassandra. I'd like to start with Cassandra's list. Her first question is, Are spirits on the other side able to taste food?

The Party: To a certain degree, but not like you who have the physical chemical action that's going on. It's more like the memory of food.

Robin: OK, thank you! You touched on this a bit in your dissertation, about calling upon you and the Party. Her next question is, How much are spirit guides able to intervene and help us when we're on earth? What is their role in general?

The Party: Think of the guidance in two ways. One is, we're out here cheering for you, rooting for you, being your friend, giving you sage advice, being just another entity in your community of life, your family, etc. To some extent, we can't do anything any more than anybody else can.

On the other side of it, we're not going to rig the game so that you "win." But we work with you (the part of you we were talking about, the part of you that's dead already) to ultimately manifest what you manifest. In other words, we'll take the example of you, Robin, you've been feeling a little down, going through some times that require more nurturing on your part, a very common condition for the human psyche. All of those events that led to that condition were ultimately done by you with the assistance of the guides, but it's your greater power that is manifesting those things around you.

Spirit guides are best utilized as friends and not as supernatural beings that will intervene any more than a friend might. If you were stepping off the curb and a bus was coming, a spirit guide might grab you and pull you back. But you wouldn't want to rely on that. You'd want to be able to be aware of a bus. If you weren't, then when you got here to the other side you'd have a good laugh. We hope that answers the question.

Robin: Yes, I think so! Thank you. She has another one here. Is there an earth spirit that represents the planet earth, and if so, what would it say to us, especially about the way humans have been treating the earth?

The Party: There is an earth spirit. It works through gazillions of pieces, it speaks through the earth itself, the trees, the air, the animals, you. It's saying that if you don't take care of me, you will lose your own life. The earth will go on. It's a similar message of what we've been saying to you as humans. If you don't take care of yourself and your inner life, care for yourself with love and compassion, treat yourself with the greatest good of all, then you'll lose your life. You'll eventually end up living in some sort of purgatory where you're not really living, you're not happy, you're lost in process. That's the message right now.

Robin: Thank you. The questions that I had you touched on, with difficulty. Barbara and I were having a conversation about this the other day, too, in that sometimes the conflict—we are grateful for the lessons that come out of it and we know enough to not blame anyone and feel the blessings and stop and say, “Oh, my gosh, I need change!” But we also were wondering, is there an easier way to maybe find these abscesses, connect with them, heal them, without them having to play out in painful ways in real life, in that pre-contemplation stage?

The Party: Two answers: one is yes and the other is no.

The yes answer is that if you think about how you dealt with emotion in your life 25 years ago, you have made it a great deal easier. You would have been creating a great deal more drama in your life, a great deal more inner turmoil, had you not been a student of this and yourself, not just us, but a student of yourself, who you came here to be. So you've made it easier.

But is it possible to extract the abscess without feeling the pain? That's the no. If you think about Jesus, in his life, he went into that 33rd or 27th life—the final life as Jesus Christ—as perfect a human as could be. He processed Emotion in a way that no one else could understand. All of his emotions became his power. He did that through living all those other lives as Jesus. You have to do it that way, too, but in a smaller sense. You're changing yourself through your self-awareness, and thereby what could have been suffering and pain 20 years ago now becomes your power. (Although yes, you're going through a difficult spell now.)

The way that Jesus had to finally integrate everything was to feel physical pain that would give him an empathy for suffering that he didn't have prior to being nailed to the cross. It's not that he didn't have empathy, it's not that he hadn't come as one very perfect evolved psyche of a human. But he needed to feel that pain, to connect on a molecular level. What becomes suffering is when you beat yourself up while you're feeling the pain, you judge yourself, you diminish yourself, you say you shouldn't be feeling the pain. All of that is what the suffering is. The rest of it is the first step to accepting that you're going to feel the pain, and that then becomes the next step to transforming and regenerating the pain.

In other words, you have to quit denying the pain and feel what you ... the reason it's an abscess in the first place is because you don't want to feel it! Because once you get there, then you can begin to transform it into something else. You can take that pain and turn it into pleasure, turn it into pure healing energy once you're able to breathe it through your body and then marry it to an intellectual definition. You redefine it. You're feeling a deep pain, but instead of saying, "What's wrong with me?" or "That person did this!" you're saying, "I am connected to the most powerful force in the universe, Compassion. It is by nature a regenerative force that is surging through my body now, regenerating all of my molecules with compassion and love." You can see how much different it is. It's still moving through your body, but now you are transforming it into something.

This is an experiment. We've done this for 25 years. This isn't like we're telling you something that's been done over and over again. Our theory is—based on what we've seen, it looks good: by allowing yourself to feel the pain, it becomes your power. Then you learn what that means, to control your power, how to transform your power, what to do with your power. As we said, you are more powerful than you will ever know.

Robin: Thank you for that clarity and the model, hearing it again, it always seems like I take away another nugget. Just like any perfecting or mastery of anything. You go back in, you hear it again, you see it in a new way, you take another nugget, and then you apply it. I'm eternally grateful.

The Party: Yes. Think of yourself as a sculptor. You've been given a huge mound of clay. It will take a lifetime to sculpt. You step up, you step close, you step back, you take breaks. It's a never-ending story.

Robin: Which comes back to the cycle that Barbara opened with. It's like a spiral.

The Party: Yes, absolutely. A spiral, and about the place where you are on the spiral, because it keeps spiraling. If you think about it as a moving—it's finite, but it's continually spinning, and you're going up. It's sort of like those rabbit ears with the electricity that keeps going up and up. It's nonstop.

Robin: Thank you. I'm excited about this series and inventing in 2018.

The Party: Yes. In the sessions to come, we will have some sessions together of invention. What does it mean to invent? How to invent? Where does that divine vision come from of how to take the thought and turn it into the actual physical thing? That's an exciting part for us, too. We, too, are eternally grateful that you are here with us in great collaboration. Thank you.

Robin: Thank you.

Cathy: I wanted to share a couple comments. I totally understand how when we're in the midst of something difficult, we want to figure out how we can get through it without the physical pain. But when we can step back and look at it about being more aware, the whole purpose of life in the human body seems to be to experience the experiment of life.

CATHY KLINE

What I came up with from the dissertation today is a sound bite for asking for help. Where I can come up with sound bites for the problem, the issue that I have, that's easy to come up with. But encompassing a real powerful thing for me now is to, when I know I'm not in awareness or I'm in doubt about something and I want to have that Intuition, now I can ask for "crystal-clear intuition." When it hit me, I knew that that's my new mantra for when I'm in the middle of a crisis. I can just say "crystal-clear intuition" and then allow all that encompasses that to be a part of me. I wanted to share that. Thank you.

The Party: Yes. The mantra is like an invocation of bringing forth that crystal-clear intuition. Remember that the cacophony of the Intellect, which oftentimes mars that crystal clarity, can still go on if you get into the space between the Intuition and the Intellect. When you're in that place and you realize you have to ask for help and you're evoking this for yourself, take a minute while you're breathing and do a visualization.

Think about the Intuition and the Intellect as a joint that comes together, two bones that come together. They're held together by cartilage and muscle and they bend and they're connected to one another, but there's a space between the two. That way you don't have to waste time struggling to quiet your Intellect in the thinking process. It can go on over there. You're just going to move to a quiet space for a minute. That will help the clarity address itself and get to you in that moment.

Cathy: Yes, thank you for the crystal-clear clarity!

2018 REDEFINITION, REGENERATION, REINVENTION #1

The Party: Now we will close the channel by saying that from where we're sitting right now, we feel as if we're in a circle. There's a circle behind that and one behind that and one behind that. Some of the spirits on those circles that go up are people who will be listening to this in the future. Some are members of the Party who are here in afterlife with us. Some of it is angelic presence. It truly is a very large Party.

What we want to bring home to you in 2018 is that we're always here. Whether you think of us in a football stadium or an operating room theater, however you see that gathering of intelligence and compassion in the form of this Party, we're here. Come visit us any time. We will have as much joy talking with you as we have talking through Barbara today. We see great things happening ahead, for each of you individually, but also for the world.

When you despair and look at the world and it seems so crazy and you're so stressed out, aside from feeling and breathing, remember that this is a cycle of change. You're witnessing the movement from pre-contemplative space to understanding that change is needed. And you see it. There is no denying this when you look at your world today. It doesn't mean that everything's changed, but more and more and more people are standing up to say, "Now I will be the change. I am out of my pre-contemplative stage and I will be the change."

Know that just as with you, when you personally go through some kind of change, the world is opening up to the bigger joy to where it doesn't have to be suffering. There's a ways to go, but 2018 we feel will be a year of great master change, and we are honored and pleased to tell you, for the 25th year, to watch and be amazed.

Namaste.

Diaries of a Psychic Sorority
Talking With The Angels

Phelps, McMillian, With

Synergy Alliance, November 1997

ISBN 0-9661378-0-9

In 1993, Barbara began a study of the information she was channeling. Together with Teresa McMillian and Kimberly Phelps—the Psychic Sorority—they organized groups of listeners, taped the sessions, transcribed, and together studied the content of these readings. The “Angels” said they came to teach a process called, “world peace, one person at a time, starting with you.” This book is the documentary of the first highly charged four-month period of their association with the “Angels” and includes the six sessions that became Conflict REVOLUTION®, and several triad transcripts, along with their personal stories as they journeyed into the uncharted realm of higher consciousness together.

The mission statement was made clear from the beginning and has not wavered. The transcripts revealed a revolutionary process to resolve conflict on a rudimental level that, according to the “Angels” would lead to “all their wildest dreams coming true.” Using the backdrop of their own lives and their relationships to each other to test this process, they became the lab rats and the details of their daily lives became the lesson book.

Party of Twelve: The Afterlife Interviews

Mad Island Communications LLC, June 2001,
ISBN 0-9677458-0-2

Winner of 2008 Best Beach Book Award for Spirituality

In 1998, Barbara was enlisted by a representative from a British tabloid to conduct an interview with Diana Spencer, Princess of Wales for the anniversary of her death. While the interview was never published, a project began that truly stretched beyond her wildest dreams.

Twelve interviews with some of the most famous figures of the 20th century all working together for world peace, this book presents a fascinating look from Afterlife of a wild range of cultural issues: domestic abuse as seen by Nicole Brown Simpson, reincarnation and education by Albert Einstein, feminism and abortion by Norma Jean Baker; gratitude and AIDS by Ryan White and others.

Ending with the Manifesto of the Destiny of World Peace, Party of Twelve is sure to get you thinking about other possibilities for creating peace on our planet, and reassures us that we really are never alone.

In 1905, Albert Einstein birthed the theory of relativity and forever changed the way we understand the universe. Not just a brilliant scientist, Einstein was also a tireless activist for world peace. Barbara's in-depth tribute to this great scientist and peace activist paints a convincing picture of possibilities. From the unique position of reporting directly from the space between the molecules, these speculations of Einstein's views about the nature of Afterlife, the manifestation of matter, a scientific definition of compassion, a unified field theory, and Conflict REVOLUTION® present a quantum view of consciousness from  $10^{-100}$  meters and provide step-by-step instructions on how to resolve rudimental conflict and attain global peace that begins within each individual.

Party of Twelve: Post 9-11

Mad Island Communications, June 2008

ISBN 978-0-9677458-9-3

Party of Twelve: Post 9/11 is the remarkable story of Barbara's journey to become the emissary for a party of notable dead people, headed up by Albert Einstein.

Their first book, Party of Twelve: The Afterlife Interviews is a collection of conversations with 12 of the most famous figures of the 20th century all working together for world peace. Along with the continuation of those interviews, Post 9/11 is Barbara's amazing story of how she became a part of their mission, and her journey to test the theory of Conflict REVOLUTION®, their answer to world peace, one person at a time, starting with self.

Manifestation, Conflict REVOLUTION® & The New Operating System

Mad Island Communications LLC, December 2016

ISBN 978-0-9910109-3-6

Finalist in the 2016 Best Book Awards: New Age

Einstein, et al. is the most definitive work yet by Barbara, Einstein, and the Party. Based on over 20 years of channeling and documented, hands-on research by thousands of people around the world, Einstein, et al. lays out the basis of Conflict REVOLUTION® including a unified field theory, maps of human consciousness, and step-by-step instructions for world peace, one person at a time, starting with each individual.

Einstein said that we cannot solve our problems at the same level of thinking that is creating them. Einstein, et al. guides us to a new perspective. Compassion is defined as the 5th fundamental force of the universe: “the intelligence that uses the four fundamental forces to create the physical world, one step at a time.” The maps of human consciousness clearly illustrate how this 5th fundamental force is working for the good of the whole system and our connection to it, and how we can make choices that align us to compassion to become peacemakers.

When we address conflict first in our own energy field and bring peace to our own consciousness, we cannot help but contribute to peace in every aspect of our lives, including contributing to peace on a global level.

Readings with Einstein & The Party

A reading with Einstein and the Party is an in-depth, intricate, intimate experience. All readings are based on Einstein's unified field theory and maps of human consciousness. If you are new to the information, you receive an overview before we delve into taking a look at the condition of your energy.

You will be asked to empty your mind and simply receive as we pray for only the greatest good to be present. From there we cover the current conditions, past lives, your purpose and what you brought with you into this life, as well as predictions about the potentials ahead and how to make decisions for the good of all.

Then comes time for questions and conversation. You can ask anything you like. Often, all your questions are already answered. Other times, you have new questions. Using the details of your questions, we find inspiring and practical steps you can take to create your own future applying the Einsteinian wisdom you just received.

You leave feeling empowered, inspired, and possessing the competence to take control of your own domain and confidence to make your dreams come true, whatever they may be.

Plenty of time for Q&A. MP3 recording of session provided.

Conflict REVOLUTION® Training & Coaching

“Con REV®” is a revolutionary and highly-effective process that allows you to resolve conflict—any conflict—at its root within you. This is not conflict resolution, which focuses on the arena where the conflict is playing out. Con REV® focuses on you and bringing peace to your inner life as you maneuver through that arena.

The training begins with a fascinating presentation of Einstein’s Unified Field Theory, which produces a map of this inner life of human consciousness. This map then becomes your personalized step-by-step instructions, written by and for you to resolve your part of the conflict first from within. You learn step-by-step instructions for revolving any conflict, no matter how old, deep, or seemingly unresolvable.

Practicing Con REV® improves mental and physical health, reduces stress, boosts self-esteem, grows discipline, and opens a clearer channel for Emotion to flow. Intuition can now be heard, as Intellect calms down and your entire system aligns to Compassion. As you become the change by making peace within, you naturally make peace with your friends, family, co-workers, acquaintances, and you will be effectively contributing to peace on a global level.

One-to-one coaching and workshops available.
